Attorney Docket: 1327.005US1

Patent No.: 7,194,801

Issued: March 27, 2007

Title: THIN-FILM BATTERY HAVING ULTRA THIN ELECTROLYTE AND ASSOCIATED METHOD

REQUEST FOR CERTIFICATE OF CORRECTION

Attention Certificate of Corrections Branch
Commissioner for Patents
P.O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

It is requested that a Certificate of Correction be issued correcting numerous major Patent Office printing errors appearing in the above-identified United States Patent.

Most of the corrections requested are self-explanatory, when comparing the issued patent against the "claims map" that is part of the Issue Classification document for this patent that is in the Patent Office's files – which aligns the original claims (those appearing in the last, July 11, 2006 Amendment to the application) and the final claims as they are supposed to appear in the issued patent.

Two of the requests for correction may however require more explanation – namely, the following:

1. Claim 93 of the issued patent bears no resemblance to what is supposed to be printed as claim 93 – namely original claim 122. At present, erroneous claim 93 of the issued patent is identical to claim 53 of the issued patent. The request for a Certificate of Correction lists the corrected version of original claim 122 that should appear as claim 93.

2. As it appears in the patent, claim 50 is identical to claim 49.

What appears in the patent as final claim 50 is supposed to be from original claim 99, which depended from original claim 9. However, original "claim 9" was cancelled by the Examiner in an "Examiner's Amendment" dated 09/12/2006 that was part of the "Notice of Allowance." In the Examiner's Amendment of 09/12/2006, original claim 99 should also have been cancelled with original claim 9, but was not.<sup>1</sup> It is therefore requested that claim 50 of the issued patent be deleted, as shown on the accompanying request for a Certificate of Correction.

AUG 1 2007

<sup>1</sup> In an analogous case, in the 09/12/2006 Examiner's Amendment, original claim 66 was cancelled, and also original claim 100, which was dependent upon cancelled original claim 66, was properly deleted during publication processing.

REMARKS

Issuance of the Certificate of Correction would neither expand nor contract the scope of the claims as properly allowed, no new matter is added, and re-examination is not required.

It is believed that no Certificate-of-Correction fee is due, since all of the errors in the printed patent for which corrections are being requested are errors that were introduced by the Patent Office during the patent-printing process. However, if a fee is deemed to be due for a Certificate of Correction to be issued, the Examiner is authorized to Deposit Account Number 502931, and to charge any additional fees or credit overpayment to the same account.

Respectfully submitted,
MARK L. JENSON ET AL.
